Prospectors Are Leaving

Several parties of prospectors have left for up river during the past week. Lawrence Swinborne, of New York, is at the head of a considerable party headed for a prospect he discovered several years ago, and which he is confident will turn out rich. He has hired several of the local boys, Frank Adams, McKay, Lynch, Darby Choquette, Joe Cozad and Frank Gadd, and will make a thorough examination of the property. Mr. Swinborne and his associates have been camping at Ideal Cove for the past several days, waiting for the opening of the river. Bobby Burns was "chef" for the party and he is reported to have produced some great meals. The last dinner at camp consisted of roast grouse, larded, crab salad, French fried potatoes, creamed apricots, and all the usual trimmings that go with such a meal, which shows that Alaska is able to produce a bill of fare which would more than pass muster anywhere.

Believes Gold is There

So Says Telegraph Creek Merchant---Coarse Gold Found In Gravel

When seen by the Sentinel man this week, John Hyland, of the firm of Hyland & Belfrey, the general merchants of Telegraph creek, B. C., had this to say of conditions in the interior.

"Business has been very ordinary with us this past winter. Of course furs have come in in considerable quantities, but the lack of rabbits has prevented many lynx being taken, as there are very few of them in the country, so that this, one of the highest priced furs of the season will be short. On the other hand the catch of silver foxes is the biggest for several seasons.

"As to the gold strike on the Nahlin river, I really know little about it, first-hand. George Adgitt, an old-time prospector and miner of the district, was the only man in Telegraph who had actually come in contact with the men who made the strike. He was so satisfied that the gold was there that he came in over the trail all the way to Telegraph, got an outfit, enough to last him the season, and left for the diggings. He told me that the men had found coarse gold, which was averaging them five cents per pan. Continuing he said that the country in which the strike was made was of a gravelly formation, but it was of course frozen solid when the men made their find, so that they had not gotten down to bed-rock. They will no doubt have reached it by this time, and the probabilities are that they will have made a good find. At this season of the year communication is not very rapid up in our country, owing to the fact that the snows are just going off, so that the trails are almost impassible. This accounts for the lack of news of the strike. Several men in and around Telegraph made a deal with Adgitt for him to act as their attorney and locate claims for them.

"You know I have great faith in the future of the country up there. It is an immense country, and I am satisfied that its possibilities are just as immense as its scope.

England's Monarch Dead

London, May 6—King Edward died at Buckingham Palace a little before four o'clock this afternoon. The end came with great pain, as he literally choked to death in a coughing fit. His son George, Prince of Wales, has been declared his successor. The funeral will be held Tuesday, May 17. President Taft has asked Theodore Roosevelt to attend as the official representative of the United States.

Services will be held at the Catholic Church, Sunday, May 16th. Mass at 8 and 11 a. m.

All the local steamers were passed by the government examiners last week.

Thus far men haven't begun to prospect it, except in one or two comparatively small areas. Gold in quantity was found in the Cassiar, the general conditions there and in the Nahlin are much the same, so I do not see why this strike now reported shouldn't be a big one. Not so large, possibly, as the Cassiar, but large enough for fortunes aplenty to be made. It is a beautiful country, living is comparatively cheap, and the gold is there, if a man's luck enables him to find it. There is room here for ten thousand men to prospect, and that many in the field, many of them would be able to come outside again with goodly sized "pokes" of gold."

Down From Telegraph

A party from Telegraph Creek headed by "Johnnie" Hyland arrived in town early Monday morning after an arduous trip down the river. They report good going, with the river rather low, however, until they reached the Hudson's Bay flats. Here they encountered ice in immense quantities and had to wait twenty-four hours for an opening to form in the ice. In one place they were caught in an ice pack, two men thrown into the water and a hole punched in the boat by driven onto a snag by the ice. The rest of the way, after getting over the flats, was practically without any occurrence out of the ordinary, and good time was made. They brought down considerable mail, and quite a bunch of furs.

They are on their way outside and will be in the south for some time, returning in time to catch the river steamer which will be here during the month of July.

Will Snyder was a passenger on the Dolphin, south-bound, Tuesday.

Wrangell - - Alaska

THE WRANGELL SENTINEL

RICHARD BUSHELL, JR., Editor and Proprietor

Published at Wrangell, Alaska, every Thursday Afternoon

Entered as Second Class Matter, at the Wrangell, Alaska, Postoffice, under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

$2.50 per year in advance, otherwise $3.00 Foreign Countries 50c extra

A recent copy of the Seward Gateway said, "We are proud of our new governor, Walter E. Clark, he is making good." What a truism is here expressed—he is making good. Compare that with the best that can be said of the man who is trying to belittle him in the eyes of the people of the United States, James Wickersham. That individual who has now been in Washington for the greater part of two years—misrepresenting Alaska—has accomplished absolutely nothing for the people who sent him to the national capital, and his latest move of taxing the fishermen is hardly one that will do him much good or impart any benefit to the district. Of the people of Southeastern Alaska, it might be pertinent at this time for this paper to ask them to look up his attitude on the Forest reserve question. Pinchotism is here in the shape of the regulations against which the many have raised their voices in protest. He was asked while here last July to use his utmost endeavors to bring about changes in those regulations, he promised so to do, and then delivered the goods—made good(?) by approving of Pinchot's methods and leaving the loggers of this region out in the cold.

Inability to acquire good title to mineral lands in Alaska will prevent the investment of millions by English syndicates this year, according to L. Stewart Weatherby, a guest of the Alaska club: "English capitalists," said the colonel, "are ready to invest $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, provided reasonable guarantee of title can be given."—P. I.

This is the way in which Alaska is being assisted by her friends(?) with their fool investigations which will result in nothing except setting the district back another ten years. It takes money to make the mare go, and as a rule men who live up here are short the persuader.

Wrangell has a kick coming on the treatment it is receiving these days from the Alaska Steamship Company. Last month when the Seattle and Cottage City were both on the run for the Pacific Coast Co., the vessels of the Alaska Steamship Co. called in here both ways, now, with the Cottage off the run, the Jefferson and Dolphin are calling in one way only. It is a pity that the steamers of this line get any business from this port, as they certainly don't deserve any.

The stationing of a scaling official at Petersburg by the Forestry department is a big help to the loggers, as they are now able to get their logs scaled without delay. Whoever is responsible for the change certainly is entitled to the thanks of this region, Thirteen lights will be installed by the government on Wrangell Narrows during the present season. With all of them in commission, there should be no trouble for any steamship man to make the run in anything like ordinary weather.

Glenora Has Trial Trip

Walter Waters took a trial spin with his remodeled gasoline launch the Glenora, Tuesday. She makes a good showing on the water, and the time she makes isn't so bad. Her twin screws allow of her being turned and swung very quickly.

Customs Office Is Moved

Evidently the Canadian government is figuring on considerable business going up the river this year. In anticipation of it, they have moved the customs house down from Glenora to a point near the boundary. There they will maintain an office at least until the close of navigation this fall. The expectations are that there will be quite a good deal of business going up the Iskut as well as up the Stikine.

Local parties are contemplating going into the business of raising dogs. Bert Foote is busy figuring out how much money he lost by selling his valuable bear dog to Charley Yakook instead of holding it for the higher market of the present week.

A Nome man was buncoed out of $8,000 at Seattle. When he had his despoilers arrested the offered to give him $2,000 to compromise.

It is reported that Captain Wallace Langley, who is well known both the lower and upper Yukon, has purchased the old steamer Al-Ki from the Pacific Coast Steamship company and will operate her on the Alaskan coast.

Wrangell Narrows' Lights

In a recent issue the Railway and Marine News, of Seattle had the following to say about the coast lighting question in Alaska:

"Gov. W. E. Clark, of Alaska, who has been in Washington for some time, has been a persistent and consistent advocate for more lights for his district. He pointed out to officials at Washington that a tonnage of between $35,000,000
and $40,000,000 a year passes through northern waters and he emphasized the great need of supplying a new lighthouse tender for Alaska."

While unable to secure an appropriation of the magnitude he desired, still he did secure some results in the shape of an appropriation of $30,000 which will be expended in the erection of gas beacons in various parts of the inside passage, and oil beacons at the following points in Wrangle Narrows:

Point Alexander; Battery Islets
(front and rear range); Spike
Rock; Burnt Island Ledge; South
Ledge; Bush Top Island; Anchor
Point; Boulder Flat; Vexation
Point; South Green Rock; South
Flat; North Flat; Turn Point.

The appropriation recommended by Gov. Clark included $75,000 for a lighthouse at Cape Decision, $100,000 each for Cape Spenser and Cape St. Elias, in addition to $75,000 for gas lighted beacons, of which 25 or 30 are wanted. This latter amount was reduced to $30,- 000 and the board will do its best with the amount allowed.

terested is invited.

River Fishing Season Opens

Reports from the mouth of the river are to the effect that the run of spring salmon is nicely started,
and good catches are being made.
The Enge mild curing outfit moved its scow over from Petersburg the latter part of last week, and are anchored in the bay, where they will remain for the next couple of months.

In other parts of the district,
the salmon run is on in good shape, but the trollers have gotten the idea into their heads that the usual prices are not enough and have gone on strike for five cents a pound straight for fish suitable for mild curing. This, the curers say, is more than they can afford to pay and the result will be that the size of the pack will probably be smaller than at first expected.
